DISTRICT COURT, Nov. 8 .- Ashworth and Cones vs. Silas Merchant. Jury came into Court at noon. They, we understand, stood eight to four for plaintiff, and not having agreed on a verdict were discharged. A new trial will follow as a matter of course. This not being an every day case, but presenting some peculiar features, calls for some further notice than was given in our last report.

The repuliated notes were a portion only of sev eral drawn at the same time, amounting in all to some $7,000. The only plea set up by the defendants was that the drafts were not endorsed, as it was claimed they were to have been by an individual named Ross. The plaintiff proved that some of the notes had been regularly paid by Merchaut, and that payment of the ones forming the ground of the present action, had, as they fell due, been called for, and repeated promises to pay them made by him, with the full knowledge that they had not (if they ever were to have been) been signed by Ross. Crown vs. Sheldon. Sait for breach of contract in not delivering, as per contract, a lot of Hogs. -There was no dispute as to the contract having been signed by defendant, but he denied having made it, alledging that owing to the effect of intoxicating drinks or stupifying drugs be was at the time bereft of his reasoning powers, and wholly unconscious of what was passing. Case still before the Court.

However good a string may le, it will produce no tone until it vibrates, and the evener the vibration to better the tone at by vibrate evenly, the string should have bot tree distinct a little. The hammer arrives on the unit sole, feee diagram It, i and the first mothin of the string is to record from the hammer. In the It. I. A. Co. piano the second multim of the string is to record in a straight direct line to its stating point, and then, if it vibrates a shousand times, livenoise is np. down—up, down—adiofinities.

The second mustim of the string in all other makes cannot be to return in a direct line, for the fallowing reason. To be not at the fall of the string in all other makes of the fallowing reason.

1. The Hallet, Davis & Co. Pinnas have a greater length of string than those of any other make in the sume sized case.

The truth of this statement may be seen at a glance, as nearly the entire length of a straight string can be used for vibration, (see diagram) without those that are bent, necessarily have the rest or bridge pin inserted at a great distance from the end of the plane; view the next of state pin in the side of the plane; is the string would map in twent before it could be drawn by within an ortare of concert picks.

The reason why strings so often break in the common plane and why they invariably break at the ellow or bridge-pin, is, he is fing being being that at a sherp ample at that point, lose discreased in the solid or that part against the into pin, becomes necessarily contracted, and the outside, or the nillow of the string four few value farries. Now if the whole arrain on the string four few value farries. Now if the whole arrain on the string four few value farries. Now if the whole arrain on the string four few value farries. Now if the whole area in our latest the manufacture, a sestimate, and the strain is evenly beared by all parts of the string, cone-ball of its deligned to been a six momens strain the part of it is inside to many forward and approximate, and the strain is evenly beared it is obliged to been an in momens strain the part of it is inside to many forward at any chance in the weather; and especially is this the crossin all woodout-our of the atmosphere. The philosophy is simply this that the whole of a string, be it large to small, is stronger than bail of it. And it can only be regalized to year and separating that twice one is more yeard to two, or that twice two does not make four. 2, The Hallet, Dowis & Co. Pianns have a wider space between the strings than those of any other make.
